This month's topic:

GARAGEBAND

How to make beautiful music with the powerful software already on your Mac to be presented by local musician Michael Quick

GarageBandLove

(a tender, heartfelt ballad of endearment)

What if you wanted to noodle around
And do sound effects for that home video
Or dabble with loops and go crazy with sound
Or full orchestrations just like radio

And what if you wanted to play glockenspiel
Yet lacking the lessons has shattered your scheme
And what if hobgoblins and fairies aren't real
And what if GarageBand is only a dream

As Michael (known also as "Whitey") will show,
O wonder of wonders, it's there on your Mac
Make music from rockin' to Mood Indigo
No musical skills are required, in fact

No need to dress glitzy nor prance like a star
At Madison Square or the lounge at the Ritz
You won't even need to strap on a guitar
Nor set it on fire nor smash it to bits

Of course if you do play guitar, let 'er rip
(Or French horn or oboe or cello or flute)
Then hawk your CDs to the musically hip
And win hearts of millions plus bank-loads of loot

Baby it's happening
Get out the word
Call to your wanderlust
Tuesday come fly with us
Sonically riotous
August the third

Yet lest you should think that it's all just a tease
For music takes money, well let us confide:
Some bands have sold honest-to-goodness CDs
Recorded with naught but GarageBand, no lie

With plenty of instruments, sounds and effects
And freebies and add-ons that take it beyond
And no rude, cigar-smoking record execs
GarageBand is cooler than kewl, it's da bomb

So come learn what they never taught us in school
Make multitrack gold on the desk in your room
And later when fans scream and faint, play it cool
For now be content with your own sonic boom

Baby it's happening
Get out the word
Call to your wanderlust
Tuesday come fly with us
Sonically riotous
Tonically thunderous
Purely melodious
Ever harmonious
August the third

GarageBand is amazing software, available only on Macs, and we do hope you'll come to learn more about it. There are many events to attend in this whirlwind of a world, many of which you could attend with nary a rhyme or reason. But perhaps both MAC², and you, are more than a little special, for you have reason, and we have rhyme. See you there!
