This month's topic:

iPOD vs. iPOD

A competition between the new iPod Nano and the previous model, plus a look at the current iPod lineup to be presented by Rob Ellis

While hoping for peace on earth in the new year, why pit one well-meaning, nicely-mannered, law-abiding iPod Nano against another? Because each Nano sports features which the other lacks, and the differences, which are not to be found on Apple's website, may surprise you. If you have felt little need for an iPod, the Nano duel may change your mind. With voice recording, pedometer, FM radio, stopwatch, calendars, clocks, photos and, oh yes, music, the iPod Nano is a startling blend of teeny tiny size and great big features. We will focus on the 6th and 5th generation Nanos, plus a look at the full family of iPods. Come join us; you may find a gizmo you cannot live without, and a new meaning for the term, "nanotechnology".

Also,

BACK TO MAC BASICS

In this segment, we focus on more fundamental skills, to make life a little easier for those who are trying to learn how to use their Macs. This month:

EVEN MORE SNOW LEOPARD TIPS to be presented by Tom Davis

There are so many niceties in Snow Leopard, yet you may not happen to stumble upon them. Tom will reveal several useful, clever features, all exclusive to Snow Leopard.

A few decades ago, the capabilities built into the tiny Nanos could have been nothing more than science fiction. Please join us on Tuesday and see yesterday's tomorrow today. And please feel free to bring a friend. See you there!
