APPLE WATCH

A hands-on look at the many features of Apple's petite mobile wonder to be presented by Tom Strouble

Rob Ellis 2017

Not so many years ago, wearing a computer on your wrist would have been considered either science fiction or a sure path to wrist surgery. Yet, stranger than fiction, here we are, living in a world where that is possible, and for that matter, in numerous choices of colors, styles and straps. The Apple Watch can access your calendar, use Siri to issue your requests by simply speaking, integrate with your iOS device or your Mac, alert you to messages and calls, track your physical activity, use Apple Pay to pay for purchases, monitor your heart rate after you realize how much you spent on said purchases, and, of course, show the current time, all on a beautiful, glowing watch display. On Tuesday, Tom will guide us through the functions and features of the Apple Watch, explain the differences between its previous and latest versions, discuss its strengths and limitations, and show exactly how to use it. Please join us at Tuesday's meeting for a look at a gadget that appears as though it leaped from the pages of a comic strip. And speaking of comic strips, Dick Tracy may have been square-jawed with a knack for catching crooks, but Apple's amazing piece of mobile technology puts his clever watch to shame.

Also,

BACK TO MAC BASICS

In this segment, we focus on more fundamental skills, to make life a little easier for those who are trying to learn how to use their Macs. This month:

HOW TO USE THE SIDEBAR
to be presented by Rob Ellis

The Sidebar is in nearly all your Mac's Finder windows, but what is it good for? For one thing, the Sidebar can save you time and aggravation when navigating around your files and folders. On Tuesday, Rob will show how to utilize the Sidebar to go where you want to go on your Mac.
