This month's topic:

PRINTER PERFECTION

How to achieve great-looking prints and photos from your home printer to be presented by Rob Ellis

A day, a gift, a well-turned phrase, can literally be perfect, and prints from your printer can be equally perfect. However, many computer users have disappointing luck with their printer output, with inaccurate color, washed-out blacks, muddy contrast, and blurred or pixelated images. As vexing as imperfect prints can be, perfect prints are seldom the result of luck. On Tuesday, Rob will share many tips on how you can produce stunning prints, including how to set your Mac's monitor for accurate color, how to use your Mac's 'Print' dialogue, how to select the best ink, how to choose paper that will work well with your printer, how image resolution affects printing, and how to prepare photos for print. Getting accurate color from iOS devices is a horse of a different color, with fewer options, but we will look at that as well. All in all, your printer can probably perform better than you expect, and with some good advice and a few tweaks, it may yield results that are, in fact, picture-perfect.

Also,

BACK TO MAC BASICS

In this segment, we focus on more fundamental skills, to make life a little easier for those who are trying to learn how to use their Macs. This month:

WHAT'S UP, DOCK?

(We hope you heard that in its appropriate, floppy-eared voice)
to be presented by Tom Davis

All about the Dock, how to add and remove items, and how to make the most of its obvious and not so obvious features, including setting your own preferences for how and where it appears. We have occasionally shown how to use the Dock, but because it is such a handy tool in using your Mac, we decided it was time to show it again.

Why is it that photographs of your darling black cat forever print as a dull gray? Why do some sharp photos always appear blurred in print? And how can you set your printer for the paper you want to use? Please join us on Tuesday to learn the answers to these questions and many more. And please feel free to bring a friend. See you there!
